DIED AT HOME OF HER DAUGHTER

Mrs. Elizabeth Hilligoss, For Years
a Resident of Rushville, Succumbs at Shelbyville.

WAS WIDOW OF SEX HILLIGOSS

Husband Was the First Mayor of Rushville—Dropped Dead
About Two Years Ago.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hilligoss died at the home of her daughter, Mrs.
Lauren Hilligoss, Tuesday morning
at six o'clock, says the Shelbyville News. She was seventy-two years and eight months of age.

Five daughters and one half sister survive the deceased. The daughters are Mrs. Lauren Hilligoss and Mrs. O. D. Alsmann, of Shelbyville,
Mrs. Rhoda Inlow, of Homer, Mrs.
Jerome Mahan, of New Castle, and Mrs. James Moore, of Kenneth. The half sister is Mrs. Bert Mull, of Rushville.

The funeral services will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lauren Hilligoss, Shelbyville, at nine o'clock
Thursday morning. The interment will take place in the family lot in the Hurst cemetery in Rush county.

Mrs. Hilligoss was the widow of Sex Hilligoss and lived for years on the corner of Perkins and Eighth streets, this city. Her husband was the first mayor of Rushville and in his early days was prominent in city and county politics. Mr. Hilligoss dropped dead from heart failure about two years ago. A number of Rush county people will attend the funeral.

ORPHANS ENJOY AN AUTOMOBILE TRIP

Happy Plan of Motorists at Shelby-ville Could and Should be Emulated Here.

RARE TREAT FOR THE INMATES

The children of the Gordon Orphans' Home, twenty-six in number,
are enjoying a treat Monday afternoon; one that not many poor children ever have the pleasure of taking,
says the Shelbyville Republican.

A few days ago some of our auto enthusiasts were struck with an idea
—one that if carried out would make the children at the home happy. They thought it would be a good plan to take the children on a tour through the country. E. A. Swain, Frank Clark, Arthur Speigel, Misses Lillian and Katherine Nading, Harry Teal
and Joseph Hamilton, all owning large cars, were seen in regard to the proposed treat and they readily consented to use their cars.

Leaving here this afternoon at one o'clock, the party will make a trip to Franklin and then to Edinburg, where they will treat the children to lunch and ice cream soda and they expect to return home in time for supper this evening.

HOOSIERS IN NEW YORK.

Next Sunday's Indianapolis Star
will contain a write-up of Carl Morris, a former Rush county boy who is making good as a baritone soloist in New York City. It will appear under the caption of "Hoosiers in New York" and is written by Laura Smith.

WANTS TO LOCATE A COUNTRY BANK

Ex-Congressman From Kentucky is Looking Over Rush and Fayette Counties This Week.

ANDERSONVILLE IS AMBITIOUS

Ex-Representative J. B. Hiles of Bracken county, Ky., is visiting R.
A. DeWitt and family in this city,
says the Connersville News. Mr.
Hiles is mixing business with pleasure and while here is looking about for a suitable small town in which to locate a bank. He went to Metamora with that view Monday. Glenwood and Laurel both have banks.
Everson, Falmouth, Bentonville and Harrisburg are without banks and probably do not desire them. An-dersonville's ambitious editor, the Rev. F. Wilson Kaler has often pointed out the need of a bank in that town along with other things needed there. Metamora has many wealthy or well-to-do citizens, but generally does business with Brookville or Laurel banks.

COLORED LAD WAS DROWNED

Local Pastor Called to Officiate at the Funeral Services.

The funeral services of Vibert Winfrey, the young colored lad who was drowned Sunday afternoon
while swimming in the river near Roberts park, says the Connersville
Examiner, were conducted Monday afternoon at the Mt Zion Baptist church at three o'clock; burial in the city cemetery. Rev. C. H. Johnson of Indianapolis and Rev. A. H.
Shumake of Rushville officiated.

TROUBLED BY RUST.

Some of our Rush county farmers say as the harvest approaches and many spots in the field take on ripened appearances, in many instances the heads are almost devoid of matured grains. Both the black and red rust has in many fields developed and added to the troublesome conditions.

PIGEON FARM IS A BIG INDUSTRY

John Bunyard of Falmouth Has Over
Two Hundred and Fifty Pairs
Registered "Homers."

RAISE LARGE NUMBER SQUABS

For Past Month Has Made Shipment
to the East Every Week—Finds Ready Market.

No doubt few people are aware of the fact that the pigeon industry in this country is a growing and thriving one and that it is now on a paying basis. The business is an innovation, but after being tried for a few months has proven to be successful. There is a great demand in the eastern markets for the squabs
as they are considered a delicacy on the dinner table.

John Bunyard started a pigeon
farm at Falmouth only a few months ago, and now has a monster trade and is making money on his investment. He started with a very small number of valuable pigeons which he bought in the East. He now has over two hundred and fifty pairs of registered "homers" with which he raises a large number of young ones every week.

At first he had some trouble in selling the squabs, but now he has only to ship them and there is a ready market always waiting for them. He does not even have to go to the trouble of writing that the shipment has been made, but simply places them on the train. For the past month he has made a shipment every week and has always found a
ready market.

The squabs are killed and cleaned before they are shipped and are then packed in ice in a barrel. The farm is assuming large proportions and is growing larger as the days pass.
The owner is contemplating new buildings as he has not room enough to keep the large number of pigeons
which he is raising.

DETECTIVE HERE WITH GUM SHOES

Looking for a Woman Who "Lifted"
a Purse on a J. M. & I.
Train.

FAKE FRIGHT ON THE TRAIN.

Detective Penny of the Pennsylvania railroad was here and in Manilla and Ray's Crossing Tuesday making inquiries as to the identity of a strange woman who left passenger train No. 233 at one of the two places Saturday evening. It seems as if there was some trouble on the train Saturday and the woman was wanted as a witness by the company,
or else she was implicated in the disappearance of a purse containing about eight dollars.

The woman wanted by the detectives is described as a brunette, medium size in height, and weighing about one hundred and thirty pounds. It is not known where the lady boarded the train; neither is it known where the lady who lost the purse resides.

NO BAND CONCERT TONIGHT.

There will be no band concert this evening for reasons unknown.

Rushville is going to boom.

LOCAL DRIVER AT STATE FAIR

Dick Wilson Will Try For Several Records With Famous Pair of Pacers.

PICTURES APPEARED IN NEWS

Are Fastest Full Brother and Sister
in the World—Driven as a Team.

The pictures of Lady Maude C.
and Hedgewood Boy, the full brother and sister who were in training here
all winter in Dick Wilson's stable, appeared in the Indianapolis News
last night with the following article:

Dick Wilson, the veteran trainer and driver from Rushville, has two of the greatest pacers in the country in training at the State fair ground for the world's team pacing record. Hedgewood Boy (2:02 1/4)
and his full sister, Lady Maud C.
(2:04 1/2), make up the team. They have been raced on the Grand circuit for the last two or three years and have won many hard-fought races. They have the fastest average record for horses of exactly the same breeding, and hold numerous other records. Among others they hold the world's championship for team pacing to wagon, having established the mark at 2:05 1/2. It is Wilson's task to reduce that record, and he is fully confident that it can be done. The two pacers are of almost exactly the same size and have the same swing and stride. They made the record when they had only been driven together a few times. Wilson hopes to set a new record that will stand for all time.

The wagon to which the team will be hitched for its record-breaking performance is barely big enough to merit the name. It has the required four wheels, but not much else that goes with ordinary wagons. It weighs only forty-five pounds. The seat is barely big enough for one person of ordinary bulk, and the bed is not more than wide enough for one's two feet, placed side by side.
It is strongly built, nevertheless, and is calculated to withstand the wear and tear of many a fast mile on the track.

Wilson is under contract to drive
Hedgewood Boy and Lady Maud C.
for the world's record at the State fair in September, appearing on Monday, September 6. He says that as sure as he drives the team on the track it will set a new mark. Besides the team exhibition, he has a contract for two more trials. On Thursday he will drive Hedgewood Boy an exhibition mile in an attempt for a new world's pacing record. On Friday, he will take Lady Maud C. out for the world's pacing record for mares. Dan Patch holds the present record at 1:55 and the record for mares is 2:00 1/2, held by Daniel. It is probable, however, that Wilson will try for the records without pace-makers, and in this event stands a better chance. The record for pacers with pacemakers or wind shields is 1:59 1/4, held jointly by Audubon Boy and Dan Patch.

MUST STOP THE PRACTICE

Residents Complain of Bicycle Riders on Sidewalk.

Numerous residents have been complaining to the authorities of the practice of people riding bicycles on the sidewalks. It should be remembered that there is a city ordinance
against this with a fine attached.
The officers will enforce the law and offenders are warned.

MISSED BUT FEW SUNDAYS

Sunday School Superintendent Resigned After Long Service.

Quincy A. Poston, superintendent of the New Salem Methodist Protestant Sunday school, has resigned the place after fifteen years continuous service. During this long period he only failed to attend on five Sundays,
and by his faithfulness, earnestness and persistent effort, succeeded in building up the school to more than double the average attendance when he took charge.

George Spillman has been elected
Mr. Poston's successor, and will no doubt hold the school up to the high standard of excellence attained by his worthy predecessor.

GIRLIES CAMP ON FARM FOR TEN DAYS

han Country Estate.

MRS. ORA WILSON, CHAPERON.

A happy little party is the members of the Psi Iota chapter in camp on the Jim Shannahan farm, two miles west of this city. In the coterie is found some of the liveliest and prettiest girls in this city. As they left the city yesterday one of them
yelled, "We will have a dandy place out there, if we can get the gang to put in a little time arranging some of the things we are taking with us."

In the party are Louise Mauzy,
Louise Craig, Helen Seudder, Erema
Wilk, Mary Anderson, Fannie Gregg,
Alma Green, Hannah Morris, Dorothy Thomas, Marion Milson, Nettie Clark and Frances Frazee. Mrs.
Ora Wilson is officiating as chaperon
for the party, and Miss Frankie Orear has charge of the commissary department.

Politics and Love — and Other Things

On page six of today's Daily Republican will be found the opening installment of our short serial story,
"A Latter Day David and Goliath."
The story deals with politics and love—and other things. The local color is put on with both dry and wet sentiment, being a tale that grew out of a county option struggle in a typical Indiana county. Many of the incidents chronicled in the story are still very familiar and fresh in the minds of newspaper readers who followed the series of struggle which are just coming to a close in Indiana.

THE WEATHER

Partly cloudy tonight and Thursday. Cooler Thursday and in extreme west portion tonight.

MESSAGES TO THE GOD OF RAIN

Shelbyville Greek is at Work on a Patent to Control the Fall of Rain.

TO TALK TO JUPITER PLUVIUS

And Tell Him How to Dispose of Sky
Tears at Proper Time—Has a Cousin Here.

The following story from the Shelbyville Republican is of interest
here as the principal is a first cousin of Pete Adams of the local Greek Candy store:

Louis Zaharakos, who is styled in some quarters as "The Big Greek," in others as "The Big Chief," and in some places as "Little Louie," has been diligently at work for a few days on a contrivance which if perfected will bring him a fortune.
Everybody is fully informed as to the antics of the weather man of late, that is as to how he has been cutting all kinds of capers and dishing out all kinds of weather during the past few days. But this kind of weather has provoked Louie, that is,
it has kept away much of the trade that is ordinarily coming to him, and he has been studying in regard to constructing a machine that would send messages to the "God of Rain"
and have him dish it out as he would order.

His workshop is located in the basement beneath his store and many people have wondered where Louie has been keeping himself of late, but if they could have seen on the inside of his shop they would have seen Louie hard at work on the device that he in time hopes to have patented. When seen Louie was very enthusiastic over the outlook for his machine and he said he hoped to have it completed before the close of the summer. The many friends of Mr. Zaharakos are very inquisitive as to his new invention but all the information they get out of Louie
they could put in the left corner of their right eyeball.

FINALLY ARRANGE FOR A BALL GAME

Connersville Will Play Winners of Next Sunday's Contest at New Castle.

PEACE COMMISSION FORMED

The difference between the management of the Connersville and the Krell-French ball teams, arising by reason of the fact that the New Castle boys were to play the Con-nersville aggregation on the Fourth,
were amicably adjusted Tuesday,
says the New Castle Courier. Manager LaRue came here from Con-nersville to help straighten out the tangle. Manager Fletcher had written LaRue asking him to cancel the game as the Maxwell and Krell-
French teams want to play on Monday.

It has now been agreed that the Krell-French and Maxwell teams will play at Harvey park Sunday afternoon and that the winner of the Sunday game will meet the Connersville team Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock at Harvey's park. It is a very good arrangement and the fans are assured of some good ball on both days.

Rushville is going to boom.

"Time's Flight Turned Backward" SAGE AND SULPHUR

Made Her look Twenty Years Younger

READ MRS. HERRICK'S SWORN STATEMENT

STATE OF NEW YORK } ss. Rochester, N. Y.
County of Monroe }

Nancy A. Herrick, being duly sworn, deposes and says: When I was a school girl I had a head of heavy, long, dark brown hair, that was so plentiful, rich and glossy, that it was the envy of many of my young schoolmates, and attracted the attention and remarks of strangers. After I was married and as I grew older, my hair commenced to come out just a little at first, but gradually as time passed it came out more and more, and began to turn gray. I was induced by many good reports heard of Sage and Sulphur, to try a bottle. My hair was quite gray and thin on top when I commenced using Sage and Sulphur, and you may imagine my satisfaction when I found that it was fast coming back to its natural condition, becoming thicker, darker, smoother and glossier than it had been for a long time. I continued the use of Sage and Sulphur and my hair is now in a splendid condition, as heavy and as dark and smooth as when I was a girl of sixteen. From my experience I believe it is one's own fault if they lose their hair, or let it get gray or harsh. It is now four years since I commenced using Sage and Sulphur, and still use it, and my hair still keeps thick, dark, smooth and glossy.

ADDS ANOTHER COMPLICATION

Mrs. Woodill Had Evidently Known Eastman Before.

REMARKABLE LETTER FOUND

Search of Bungalow Which Was the Scene of Shocking East Shore Crime
Discloses a Missive In Mrs. Woodill's
Handwriting Indicating Her Feeling
For the Man Who Murdered Her.—
It Is Also Made Evident That the Pair Had Had Previous Acquaintance.

St. Michaels, Md., June 30.—The feelings entertained by Mrs. Edith May Woodill toward her slayer, "Lame Bob" Eastman, were indicated in a letter signed "Edith," parts of which were found in the bungalow of the murderer and suicide. The missive, which is in Mrs. Woodill's handwriting, not only indicates attachment for the man, but seems to prove that she had known him at least a year. On the same paper, in Eastman's handwriting, is the following:

"Little Dear—I cannot live after our short — of bliss, with the coming of you and parting ever before me. If we meet in the unknown let's continue the blissful times that we spent here. I am with you in every thought."

The letter signed Edith contains the following passages:

"Is the iron immodest when it creeps through the loadstone and clings to its side? Is the seed immodest when it sinks into the ground with budding life? Is the cloud bold when it softens into rain and falls to earth because it has no other choice, or is it brazen when it nestles on the bosom of heaven's arched dome and sinking into the blue-black infinity, ceases to be itself?"

"Is the human soul immodest when drawn by a force it cannot resist it seeks a stronger soul which absorbs its ego as the blue sky absorbs a floating cloud, and as the warm earth swells the sea, as the magnet draws the iron?"

"I do not feel myself to be bold or wrong or in myself for drifting toward you as I do. I would not feel myself wrong to go straight to you tomorrow."

"There is ever and always some human soul to love and trust us. And whose confidence we could not alter. We are not of our own making and our lives belong to another—Brahma, who rules and is wise."

"As one who was unconcerned and in every line of it and I read only the same adoration that a year's absence would not shadow."

"And the wonder comes to me that you did not, could not, understand. Surely a life such as yours brings time understanding; you must know lewd from the modest, the untrue from the true —"

"Dream of you, did I say? Long for you would be better, for every heart-beat seems to cry out against the enormity of the crime that makes me no longer yours. All the best in everything seems only to exist because of you, and for you."

"I hate existence away from you. Why do men dare to lift up their voices against the blessed art? Art in others which is but a greater, stronger, warmer spark of God's soul that they possess, or can lessen the understanding we have one for the other, and no difference can make us forget?"

"Remember me always, as you loved me best, and though you were a bandit—anything—my heart would beat in responsiveness to yours."

This letter of Mrs. Woodill's and several written by Eastman have been made public by the state's attorney. The letters written by Eastman were found on his body. One of them was addressed to George Taylor, station agent at McDaniel. It said in part: "Appearances are against me, but I had no hand in the tragedy. The poor little girl was practicing the art of taking a fellow from another girl who was under the influence of wine, and who hit her three times with a full bottle of champagne."

"The four immediately left and I removed the evidence of the crime. Am once more making an effort to get bondsmen, for I don't want to get locked up. But if not successful and I cannot persuade all parties to come up and take their medicine, why I will blow off the top of my crazy head, and in that case I wish you would kindly see that all letters found on me are mailed."

Sentenced For Embezzlement.

Danville, Ill., June 30.—Asa Hathaway, of Ridge Farm, who was indicted for embezzling $8,000 from the American Hominy company, pleaded guilty in the circuit court and was sentenced from one to ten years in the penitentiary. He used the money in speculating in wheat.

Divorce Granted Mrs. Tucker.

Chicago, June 30.—Mary Elizabeth (Dolly Logan) Tucker has been granted a divorce from Col. William F. Tucker, United States army, retired.

SPECIALTY IN MELONS

Successful Experiment With Seeds of a Roumanian Variety.

LIKE GRAPEFRUIT IN SIZE.

Agricultural Department Makes Gratifying Tests With Watermelon Seeds
Sent by Former Minister H. G.
Knowles—Meat Yellow and Red—Delicious In Flavor.

In its efforts to introduce into the United States the best grain, vegetables and fruits of foreign countries the agricultural department has never been more interested in its experiments along that line than it now is in a new watermelon.

This particular variety of melon was found by Florence G. Knowles, late American minister to Roumania, growing in the foothills of the Carpathian mountains in Roumania. The melons have a very thin skin, and the meat, which is less fibrous than our native melons, in color is both yellow and red, and the flavor is exceedingly delicious. Besides its matchless flavor, it has another distinctive feature in its size, which is about that of a grapefruit.

It occurred to Minister Knowles that a watermelon of that size—just enough for one person—would find great favor in the United States. It seemed to him that it would be just the thing to serve in hotels, restaurants, clubs and on dining cars. They could be kept on ice, and a whole melon could be served as one portion.

Seeing the possible demand for such a melon in the United States, Minister Knowles obtained a large quantity of the seed and sent them through the state department to the department of agriculture.

Under the supervision of David Fairchild of the bureau of plant introduction of the agricultural department, who has achieved a wide reputation for the discovery and successful introduction in the United States of many valuable foreign fruits and vegetables, the melon seed were distributed last year to a number of experimental stations.

The reports on the result of the experiments were most satisfactory and proved that the melons can be grown successfully in nearly every section of the United States. A report from Massachusetts states that the melons have a most delicious flavor and present the flattering "difficulty" of finding any one person who will be satisfied with only one of the melons. The department, through Mr. Fairchild, is planning to grow a large quantity of the melons this year, and their merit being known to the managers of large hotels in Philadelphia and New York, the entire crop this year has been bought for those hostilities, the price agreed on being three times that of the prevailing price of the native melons.

Minister Knowles has suggested to the agricultural department that the new melon be named Princess Marie, in honor of the beautiful crown princess of Roumania, whose guest he was when he found the melons. As it is not improbable that this dainty, delicious melon may soon become as popular as the Rocky Ford cantaloupe, the tribute of our representative in the selection of that name will be appreciated both by the beautiful princess and the country in which she is so much admired.

It is said that the successful cultivation in the United States of this melon is assured, and experts say that it will be worth millions of dollars to our country. The agricultural department has already expressed its appreciation to Minister Knowles for his thoughtfulness and invaluable donation to the fruitage of the United States.—Washington Post.

MISS ADAMS AS JOAN OF ARC.

Features of Her Play Given in the Harvard Stadium.

Fifteen thousand persons saw Maudé Adams play Joan of Arc in the Harvard stadium at Cambridge, Mass., the other night. There was a supporting company of 2,000, and the production was on a huge scale, with flocks of sheep and growing trees and a cathedral as big as the average church. A special electric light plant had been installed and set forth the stadium in a brilliant light.

The performance was for the benefit of the Germanic museum at Harvard, and tickets with a face value of $5 were scalped for $20. A literal translation of Schiller's drama was used. The play began with Joan a pastoral maid and led in order through all the chief events of her life and finally showed her dead in the cathedral.

The serfs and valets were played by Harvard students. A regiment of state militia marched and fought as archers and spearmen in the French and English armies. Horsemen from militia batteries rode in the coats of mail of five centuries ago. Duels were fought, and the great size of the natural stage lent impressive realism to it all. The words of the actors were heard throughout the stadium, and there was tremendous applause when Miss Adams came out on a milk white charger. There was a noisy demonstration also at the end of the performance, which lasted three hours.

WHAT IS YOUR TOTEM?

Society's Very Latest Fad Is Derived From Aboriginal Natives.

"What is your totem?" is the latest question in swaggerdom. If you can't answer offhand the inference is you have been dead to the world of fashion for at least a few weeks, says a Washington dispatch.

Nowadays, in lieu of the familiar monogram and the banal crest and the erstwhile much coveted coat of arms, society dames and damsels, taking the cue from the aboriginal natives of the United States, go out to the fields and, selecting whatever bug or bird or beast that strikes their fancy, promptly pre-empt it as their totem. The pendulum has swung the other way, and Society, with a big S, has elected to become American of the Americans. If, for instance, a butterfly is chosen as the totem, then milady proceeds to have it embossed on her note paper and flutteringly embroidered on her dainty lace trimmed lingerie. Delicately cut out of silver, the emblem is affixed glitteringly to her hand bag and to her cardcase, while a whirl of wings flashes across the glittering surface of her toilet silver.

Mrs. Perry Belmont's delicately perfumed notes from Paris are surmounted by a great big buzzing bee of gold, its quivering wings poised for flight. Miss Mathilde Townsend's totem looks like a giant mosquito. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Walsh have for their totem a bird built on hieroglyphic lines.

WOMEN RAID PARLIAMENT

FAIL TO GAIN THEIR OBJECT

Thirteenth Vain Attempt of Militant Suffragettes to Obtain Access to Premier Asquith Resulted in the Arrest of More Than a Hundred Women.—Exciting Scenes in Parliament Square in London When Women Clash With the Police.

London, June 30.—The thirteenth vain attempt of the militant suffragettes to obtain access to Premier Asquith by deputation resulted in exciting scenes in Parliament square and the arrest of more than one hundred women. The plan of campaign followed the lines previously employed by the suffragettes. The "woman's parliament" assembled in Caxton hall and sent a deputation, headed by Mrs. Pankhurst, to endeavor to see the prime minister, who had previously decided not to receive the deputation.

The police tried to induce the women to disperse quietly and then began to take the members of the deputation by the arms to lead them away. To the surprise of the spectators, who were massed around the entrance, Mrs. Pankhurst slapped Inspector Jarvis in the face, knocking his cap in the mud. There were cries of "Shame!" and several of the spectators told the suffragette leader that she had no provocation to do such a thing.

A moment later another member of the deputation, Mrs. Saul Solomon, knocked off the inspector's cap a second time, while others made determined attempts to rush the cordon of police. Eventually the entire deputation was placed under arrest.

Danbury, Conn., June 30.—Miss Sadie Williams of New Fairfield escaped unharmed when a bolt of lightning killed a dog that lay in her lap. Miss Williams was sitting on the veranda at her home when the storm came. The dog, alarmed at the thunder and lightning ran to her to seek protection. Miss Williams took him in her lap and was trying to calm him, when there came a flash of lightning and a ball of fire, which traversed the veranda from end to end and disappeared across the lawn. Miss Williams was dazed by the flash, but recovered immediately. The dog, unmarked by the lightning, lay dead at her feet.

INFERNAL MACHINE

Was Sent to Cincinnati Preacher Who Denounced Black Hand.

Cincinnati, June 30.—The Rev. G. R. Robbins, pastor of the wealthy Lincoln Park Baptist Institutional church, received an infernal machine, accompanied by a note decorated with skull and cross-bones, and saying he would suffer if he did not stop his talk of the "black hand." The machine was ingeniously constructed from a handkerchief box containing a quantity of black powder, which was to have been exploded by a match ignited by a string spring. The detonation was to blind the preacher. Fortunately the spring did not work when the box was opened.

CHINA TO OFFER REWARD.

Government Takes Unprecedented Step In Pursuit of Elsie Sigel's Murderer.

The Chinese government has taken an unprecedented step in its efforts to assist the American authorities to apprehend Leon, the Chinaman wanted for the murder of Elsie Sigel in New York. It was learned at the Chinese legation in Washington the other day that, following the circular letter issued by the minister, Ou Shout Chun, the charge d'affaires, had been advised by the government at Peking that it purposed itself to offer a reward for the arrest and conviction of Leon.

The Pekin government has also forwarded a dispatch to Mr. Wu instructing him to communicate with all Chinese consuls, the principal Chinese merchants and the leaders of the several tongs, requesting them to call together all Chinese in their respective neighborhoods and address them in the name of the imperial government, saying that China is shamed and disgraced by the crime of Leon and that all Chinamen who have the good name of China at heart will assist in bringing the murderer to justice; also that in the future Chinese must not band together to defeat justice or to protect Chinamen who violate the laws of the United States.

MEMORIAL TO H. H. ROGERS.

Fairhaven Citizens to Erect a Lasting Monument to Their Townsman.

An enduring memorial to the late Henry H. Rogers, the Standard Oil man, will be erected by the citizens of Fairhaven, Mass., the town to which Mr. Rogers had been so generous in his benefactions. Just what form this memorial will take has not yet been decided. Opinions differ as to whether it should be a statue of Mr. Rogers or a shaft with a medallion on one side and a bust of Mr. Rogers on the other side.

Another matter that the future must decide is as to the amount of money that will be expended in the erection of the memorial. A quite general expression of opinion is that it will be possible to gather $25,000, this to represent, so far as possible, the contributions of all the residents of the town. The fund will be gathered by popular subscription rather than a town appropriation, though it will be recognized as having the official sanction of the town in the presence of the board of selectmen as members of the committee in charge of erecting the memorial.

Try The Money-Back Cure For Indigestion.

Nine times in ten stomach derangements are responsible for sallow complexion, dull eyes and thin body.

It is the stomach that supplies nourishing blood to the muscles, the nerves, and skin. If the stomach is healthy, plenty of nutritious matter will be absorbed by the blood. If it is not healthy, the food will ferment, and undigested, will pass along through the bowels, furnishing so little nutritious matter that the blood becomes impoverished, and the glow of health vanishes.

If you suffer from nervousness, sick headache, belching of gas, sour taste in the mouth, heaviness after eating, or any other miserable stomach disturbance, you need Mi-o-na, and the sooner you get it the quicker you will be healthier and happier.

It will relieve any distressed stomach condition almost immediately. It will cure if used according to directions. F. B. Johnson & Co. sells it for 50 cents a large box, and he thinks enough of it to guarantee it to cure indigestion.

JULY 4TH MUSIC

Patriotic Song for July 4th
Specially Selected for Independence Day

This song was written by an officer of the American Navy during the War of 1812. It being very popular, although long out of print, is now republished in compliance with the request of many officers in the United States Navy and Army.

This song of patriotism and chivalry at its first production became eminently popular, and whenever the song has been sung, there it has awakened the patriotic zeal, admiration of heroism and veneration for the memory of those whose fidelity and love of home and flag and native land garnered the undying love of a grateful people.

It is with extreme pleasure that we give to our readers in our next Saturday's issue this rare old patriotic gem. We were very fortunate in being able to secure this number, and we are sure the selection will meet with popular favor.

This song, words and music will appear in Saturday's issue of the Daily Republican

This song will be sung Saturday night by Miss Iva Brown at the Star-Grand, and Miss Ida Liddle at the Vaude.

Peculiar phases in meeting out justice are met with now and then that look rather ridiculous to an on-looker from the outside. For instance, an Ohio man is to have a leg amputated to save his life in order that he may be electrocuted for killing his sweetheart.

That Minneapolis judge took the correct view when he said that to a man able to own an automobile a fine was no punishment. Consequently he sentenced a wealthy automobilist to five days at the work house. The young man accepted the situation gracefully, and is working out his sentence. He will probably go slower when he takes his next ride.

Indiana is now recognized as one of the foremost States in taking action to preserve wild game. In many parts of the State farmers are organizing under the recent law to provide preserve, and the State game and fish commissioner is aiding in stocking them. It is a credit to our State to be recognized as a leader in the humane and also interesting work of preserving in a harmless condition the wild animals and birds which seem on the road to extinction.

That Harvard professor who advised the Harvard students and the Radcliffe girls to do a little flirting, is apparently not acquainted with the situation. It's a dollar to doughnuts that there has been flirting and plenty of it between the girls in Radcliffe and the boys in Harvard. In neither college are they so deeply buried in their books as to overlook the sly glances of the eye, the wave of the kerchief or that convincing look over the shoulder. If this assumption is not so the boys and girls there differ greatly from the boys and girls in every other locality where there are boys and girls. The professor's advice may be right or not, but his initial performance is altogether superfluous.

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

THAT "EARLY" HUSBAND.

(Greensburg Graphic.)

There's one Rushville man that don't intend to favor his family circle with his presence at an early hour again soon.

No doubt thinking to give his wife a joyful surprise he denied himself to the boys one evening last week and dutifully wended his way homeward in the pleasant evening air while yet the night was young, all the while picturing fondly to himself how sweet would be his welcome.

Alas that hopes should be so blasted!

As the domicile in aristocratic Perkins street was neared all was dark and deserted.

Now the truth was that his wife, contenting herself all lovely, in her lord's absence, was chatting on the porch of a neighbor opposite, little dreaming of his unprecedented early homecoming.

Suddenly the two ladies saw a figure suspiciously approach the house opposite, unrecognizable in the darkness and yes, he really did enter! The bold thing!

But those women opposite didn't lose their heads, though on the verge of a collapse from fright.

They did exactly what a brave man would do under the circumstances—they called the police.

But when those brave men and true had nobly responded to the call of a woman in distress, and the posse had surrounded the house, Lo, a head popped out and a querulous voice demanded to know what all the row was about.

The curtain was drawn over the reconciliation.

BY THE WAYSIDE

A Rushville girl is a victim of a strange disease which a local physician has designated as "specialitis." It is due to the special sales that have been advertised. The young lady was reading a newspaper when she fell to the floor in a dead faint. Now, according to the books and tradition the young lady fainted because she read the announcement of an old sweetheart's marriage or death (and it would turn out afterward, according to the books and tradition, that he was a cousin of her old sweetheart by the same name). But real life is so unlike the books and tradition. Upon being revived, the young lady related that she saw hosiery advertised for 25 cents that she had paid 35 cents for the day before.

The first application of ManZan, the great Pile remedy, will almost instantly give relief. Continued use of ManZan for a few days will effect a cure. The tube in which it is put up has a small nozzle attached, so that there is no inconvenience whatever. ManZan is for the cure of any kind of Piles. It is sold here by Lytle's Drug Store.

A single dealer in Madrid sells annually 30,000 larks, finches and other small birds for food.

Mrs. E. I. Wooden of North Morgan street, who has been ill for several days, is slightly improved.

Rushville is going to boom.

A number of teamsters are already looking to the comfort of their horses. Shields against flies have been provided and the idea is such a good one that it should be universal. The police officers say that they will stand for no abuse of horses these hot days and the teamsters who are in the habit of overloading their horses should take warning.

Miss Mae Sweetman, who has been visiting her mother, Mrs. James Barrett in West First street, underwent an operation at the Sexton sanitarium yesterday afternoon. She has recently been employed as a trained nurse at South Bend.

Probably the most frequented spot in or around Rushville each evening is the swimming hole at the "head-gates." Large crowds of boys and grown-ups as well swarm there every evening for a short swim in the refreshing water.

Here's Where the Fun Comes In

Doc Emery, chief lineman of the I. & C. and general manager and promoter of Emery's Red Line park, in the rear of the general offices of the traction station, is having large crowds these sultry afternoons and nights at his summer resort. In addition to the usual amount of fresh air found at outdoor amusement parks, Emery has beat it by supplementing electric fans over the grounds. It is the only park in the United States boasting of electric fans. The chief attraction at the place is the electrical swing—ingeniously constructed. It is made of wire and the "charge" for swinging in it is strong. Yesterday Eddie Barrett was introduced to the swing and was enjoying it to his heart's content, when Lo! Wow! Wow! Something happened just as he was "letting the cat die." Emery turned on the current and Eddie twisted about like a monkey on a trapeze. He could not let go of the wires and the ordeal proved most shocking.

A STORY OF COUNTY OPTION

—BY—

TOM J. GERAGHTY

(Of the Daily Republican)

The background for this story is laid around a county option fight and therefore much of the material is quite familiar to local people—possibly to the detriment of the story. But it must be remembered that the story was written to be used elsewhere and the scenes and conditions attending a county option fight would be of more interest to those who were not the principals in this little drama of life. However, enough interest has been found in the story to warrant its publication.

PART I.

"I tell you it's high time that some one with brains and stamina put a stop to this tommyrot and meddling of women in politics. I imagine the good old ship of state manned by a lot of nervous, hysterical, hair-brained petticoats. I'm going to call a halt and put my foot down on it."

He was speaking to a confidant, but one would have thought he was shouting the declaration to the whole world. It was just one of those instances, you know, where a man thinks out loud and looks for an answer in the expression of the hearer's face. He does not expect a reply; would really feel offended if a yes or no was volunteered and would become enraged if one sought to take issue with him. The speaker who thus charged on the fair sex (which he delighted in calling the un-fair sex) was Capt. John Moffett, gray at fifty, with a carefully groomed mustache that paired off nicely with his soubriquet of "Captain;" large of figure, much of nature's rounce in his face, and a waist line that called for "stouts" when he ordered clothing.

The captain was quite wrought up. Usually he was in the very best of humor and met reverses and opposition as cheerfully as a creditor meets a debtor with money and a good intention. He was fond of a fight and often had dropped the hat himself. Not a man in the entire county of Jackson, but what feared Capt. Moffett in politics; a fear that would often have dropped the hat himself. tion for the man. An insurgent that dared attempt even to dream of de-throning him never lived, politically, longer than sundown after he had unsheathed his sword. But the lid had been lifted from Pandora's box and a new evil was abroad in the land. The women had determined to enter politics.

"I'm for county option all right," resumed the Captain. "Hain't I one of the biggest guns that worked behind that moverment in the State legislature when the bill was passed? But you know as well as I, that the whole thing was trumped up to catch the vote of the goody-goodies and not to be executed or enforced. We don't want any of it down here in Jackson and by eternal I mean to see that it is given a wide berth, sentiment or no sentiment, and knocked in the head early in the game. Why man, it would cripple us so badly if that thing came to an issue here that we would have to walk on crutches for the next three campaigns. Here's a whole colony of Germans who like their glass of beer occasionally, and then there are a number of liberal fellows who do not believe in the thing anyway. All of those people would desert us at the next election. It is our child and we would have to get out and father it if anyone brings it out of the cobwebbed asylum where it lies now, peacefully at sleep. There are enough men on the other side of the house, who would be glad to see us put in a hole and they would vote 'dry' in county option, to abolish all the saloons and let us hold the sack. They talk about it being a moral issue. Bah! Its politics. These same men who wear those tinfoil halos wouldn't vote with us if we had the ten commandments in our platform. They will pray with us but they will not vote with us."

"Take for instance" he said after getting his breath, and continuing his keynote speech, for it amounted to that, "here are twenty-four vacant business rooms. What are you going to put in them? Farmers will drive to other towns that are 'wet,' where they can get a little nip and play a game of pool for it, at that. So you see, the rooms would not be occupied by other legitimate lines of business for the business won't be here. There we will have the owners of those buildings all lined up against us solid. These rattle-brain women, they never stop to think about such things. They haven't the foresight. But I will say a few words—and I mean to talk plain English to them—telling them to confine their activity to church bazaars and gossip parties under the guise of first aid to the pastors." He pulled vigorously at a cigar he had been chewing and which went out with the first chill he gave the "petticoats." A twinkle and a new light came into his eye as he supplanted the speech with the following, which he felt confident was a gem:

"Church and State won't mix, that's all there is to it."

* * *

It was just eighteen months since Earl Marvin came to Dover and engaged a suite of offices. The "suite" consisted of one front room facing on the street and a back room where Marvin slept. He came to Dover and opened a law office, with fresh laurels on his brow, having been graduated from the State University with honors and having won the State oratorical debate. He was received kindly and the home papers "welcomed him to our city" with great to do, styling him "a brilliant young man and one that was bound to prove a bright light before the local bar." The extent of his law practice, in all these eighteen months, amounted to one case before a county squire—and he lost that. Marvin made a little money selling insurance "on the side," but a monthly remittance from his old home in Kentucky, was the hand that leveled the musket and kept the wolf from the door. Financially, his career in Dover had been an absolute failure, but in many other ways, success was his in whatever channel he drifted. At the summer chautauqua, all were proud of him, when he introduced lecturers and won their admiration by his masterly oratory. He was elected chaplain of the local Knights of Pythias lodge; was counted the best church singer in the city; had assisted in benefits and concerts and amateur theatricals and was generally conceded to be the most popular and talented young man in all the city. Still he was obliged to sleep in his office and after a year and a half, all he had earned was the best wishes of the people of Dover. But as no one ever heard one iota of complaint from his lips, they were satisfied in the thought that he surely was satisfied, otherwise he would shake the Dover dust from his feet and steal quietly away—he had nothing involved that necessitated his remaining. At first there was much speculation why Marvin came to settle in Dover but his amiable manner and pleasing disposition soon dissipated the curiosity. As a matter of fact, he had a room mate and chum at the university, Clayton Wilson, a

Dover boy and as two other students from his home town in Kentucky were graduated in law at other schools the same year he got his degree, and made straight for their own bailiwick to hang out a shingle, Marvin was a bit discouraged and on advice of Wilson came to Dover to take his turn on the wheel of fortune.

And then there was Virginia Moffett. Ten new law offices blossoming forth in a locale where she resided would not have discouraged him. Virginia, he met at college too. She was graduated a year after him, but the three years previous they had spent many, many happy hours together in the college town, and on two different occasions, during summer vacations, he had been an honored guest at the home of Capt. Moffett, the most pretentious home in Dover; and, in addition, the family was by several magnitudes, the leading one—the silk stocking aristocracy.

When Marvin came for permanent residence and Virginia had returned "the most finished girl in town" their college friendship was renewed, compound interest paid and the amount increased on the renewal. They were not of that type of lovers who stupidly seek retirement and wish to be alone, constantly; neither were they jealous and distrustful of each other, forever having silly quarrels; rather were they chums and where ever they went they seemed to enjoy themselves thoroughly and likewise made themselves agreeable to others—a rare art for sweethearts. Even while they were at school, Marvin had confessed that she was the one girl in the world, and when the way was clear, and both were satisfied with what the future held out to them, in the fragrance of orange blossoms and borrowed palms, they would ride the fairy waves into the land of heart's desire. All of that was settled, in a matter of fact sort of way, in a stroll home from a co-ed dance one night. And when the college betrothal did not die with the closing of school days, and indeed had taken on a new life out in the world, they were just living on, confidently waiting for Marvin's ship to hove in sight.

It was a cold and depressing night out, as Marvel made his way from the boarding house to his law office after his evening meal. Very few were on the streets for old Boreas had caused desolation to fall on the town; the usual coterie of pedestrians and loungers at the popular loafing places, electing to remain about the warm fires at home. It was one of the first nights in Dover that Marvin really felt homesick. His first thought was to hustle to the office and write a letter home, the only sure cure he could conceive for the ill; but a second thought guided his footsteps towards the Moffett home, a few blocks away. Why surely he must hurry there; why should he think of doing otherwise, when that very day he had taken the biggest step towards accomplishing something since he had been in Dover. And who, more than Virginia should know, and who more than she would be interested? He found her at the piano, playing a symphony. Her father sat by, with pleasure and admiration written plainly in his beaming countenance. Capt. Moffett had never mistreated young Marvin, but he had an indifferent air he always affected whenever he was thrown in the company of the struggling barrister. Naturally, Marvin had tried to win his good graces but so far had failed miserably; he had done so little either to commend or condemn. Capt. Moffett greeted him more hospitably than ever before and encouraged by this Marvin was prompted to recite the coveted secret he brought for Virginia to the entire household.

"Well captain," he began, "it looks like we are going to have a county option election here in Jackson."

Capt. Moffett's pleasing countenance quickly turned to a frown. Marvin, thinking the knitted brow meant interest in the subject he had launched, continued:

"A committee of six women, representing all the churches in Dover were in my office today and after advising with me had me draw up a petition which is now being circulated for signatures all over the city. Tomorrow I shall prepare a dozen more for circulation in the country districts. I have promised them—inso-much as my time is of little consequence—that I will devote every spare hour to the great cause they have espoused and assist them in this big undertaking in any way possible."

The captain slowly drew his chair in front of Marvin until he faced him, and then in a sneering voice demanded:

"So you are the little shrimp that has kicked up all this fuss and started these weak-kneed cherubs out on a mission of morality?"

"I spoke to Mrs. Kerr and Mrs. Farlow at church Sunday on the advisability of taking the matter up"

"You spoke to them, eh?"

"Yes. I had talked to several of my friends around here, but for some reason or another, the men folks seemed to fight rather shy of the question. Surely, Captain Moffett, you are not opposed to the launching of it. Why, you were one of the men that pushed it through the legislature."

"Yes, and I will now have the painful duty of pushing you through. You started this eh? Didn't have anything else to do? Little else you pettifogging shyster brainstormers have to do—"

"Father!" entreated Virginia, as she quit the piano and hurried to his side. He gently brushed her aside. Both of the men arose.

"Never mind now," he said, "you may leave the room or remain, as you see fit, but I am going to tell this young man what I think of him, even if he is a guest in my home. You don't suppose for a minute we are going to have a stranger drop in among us and to suit some silly whim tear down the organization that has taken years to build up do you? You are a small potato around here, young man, and I don't want you to lose sight of that fact. If you had acted decent, we might have taken care of you in time. Intending to use you on the stump next campaign, but didn't know when we considered it, what a blundering idiot you were. I did think you had some unground grains of common sense in your composition, and hoped to help you away from the dinky law office some day, if you made good in politics, but now, you would be considered pretty much of a joke."

Marvin was indignant; he stood breathlessly waiting for Capt. Moffett to finish his denunciation and he was ready to charge back, fired by all the frenzy of two passionate generations of fighters before him. Several times Virginia had tried to quiet her father, but in vain. Now she had hurried to Marvin's side and laid a trembling hand on his shoulder and looked into his face, just as her father finished.

"You mustn't say anything—not now, Oh! I'm so sorry," she sobbed.

"I know you sort of like the chap, Virginia," said her father, cooling down and speaking in a softer tone "and I hate it all on just that account. But we can get along without him. He mustn't ever come here any more."

"Father—not that. Don't talk that way," the girl implored.

"No, I won't," sneered Capt. Moffett, "he's a likely and promising young man, he is. What is your ambition, young fellow—to be president of the Ladies Aid Society some day?"

Marvin gave his head a toss and fire flashed from his eyes. A slender hand pressed against his shoulder and the defiant look he had again taken on, dissolved into a smile.

"Never mind," he said, "Capt. Moffett, I am in the camp of the enemy—with my hands tied. But the battle is on, and on in earnest. No ill feelings. Good night, Virginia." And in another second he had whirled and was in the hallway, and only stopped to gather up his hat and overcoat which he put on once he was outside the Moffett home.

Capt. Moffett walked leisurely towards the library and returning clipping off the end of a cigar. Kissing his daughter on the forehead he said:

"Sorry little girl, for you, but it was best. See if I'm not right."

Then walking toward the opening to the empty hall towards the street, he said mockingly:

"A ha! So the battle is on?—Good lord, and with a tenor singer!"

WORD MEANS WHAT IT SAYS

Court's Construction of the Local Option Law.

HINGES ON WORD "PASSAGE"

Meaning of Mooted Phrase in the Law Passed at Special Session of Indiana Legislature the Subject of Interpretation by Judge Vestal—In a Similar Case Judge Wrigley Announces Practically the Same Sort of Finding.

Greenfield, Ind., June 30.—Meade Vestal of Noblesville, special judge, found Lon Beam guilty of selling liquor without a legal license. This was the second test in this county of the meaning of the word "passage" in the county option act. Judge Vestal held with Judge Mason that the word means what it says and that a liberal construction of the act as required will not admit of any other view. This closes all the saloons in this county. The decision fixes December 25 as the limit for the granting of licenses not affected by the ninety-day clause. By this decision the saloon men of this city have been defeated in the end after having been in more or less of a legal fight for nearly two years, when the first blanket remonstrance was filed with the county auditor.

JUDGE WRIGLEY'S FINDING

Admits Doubt, but Believes September 26 Date to Be Considered.

Columbia City, Ind., June 30.—In a test suit in the case of James Grant, charged with selling intoxicating liquor without a valid license, Judge Luke H. Wrigley, of the Whitley-Noble circuit court, handed down a decision holding that the defendant was guilty. Grant received a license October 6, 1908, and contends that his license is valid till a year from that date. An option election was held in Whitley county March 5, the ninety-day provision of the act making June 6 the first day on which saloons which got licenses after the act was passed would have to close.

Preliminary to announcing the ruling Judge Wrigley felt that there was much doubt involved. The contention of the counsel for the defense that upon the meaning of the words "passage of the act," depended the point at issue, was in the opinion of the court not involved at all. It was argued that the elimination of the emergency clause from the bill robbed the words "passage of the act" of any significance as applied to the time of the going into force of the published acts, but the court held that the language in question would not be affected by such elimination. In the opinion of the court the emergency clause was dropped to prevent the possibility of an option election being held at or about the same time as the regular elections of a political nature, and not for the purpose of fixing a different date for the law to go into effect. The court said the law was a matter of common knowledge, and that even though it was not officially declared in force till November 20, the intent of the law would be to bind those who obtained license after it was known to have been passed and signed by the governor, which was September 26. The defendant will take an appeal from the ruling of the court.

Handsome Bequest to Rose. Terre Haute, Ind., June 30.—The Rose Polytechnic institute has received a bequest of about half a million by the will of Susan Francis Hemmway, one of the chief heirs of the school's founder. This money is to be held in trust, the interest applied to the general school expenses. In addition, she leaves the old Rose home-stead, situated on an entire block in the heart of the city, for the use of the school.

More Dynamiting at Evansville. Evansville, Ind., June 30.—Dynamiting has been renewed in the Evansville street car strike. A car ran over a large stick of green dynamite. It failed to explode. The police took the stick and made a test to ascertain its potency. When it went off the explosion was terrific and experts said that it was sufficient to have blown the car into atoms. This is the third dynamiting.

Aged Man Grew Despondent. Indianapolis, June 30.—The dead body of Christopher Roepert, sixty-seven years old, was found floating in the dam which holds the little lake in Garfield park. Roepert had been in failing health for more than six months, and his friends believe he became despondent and took his own life.

Justified by Jury. Peru, Ind., June 30.—Budd Fisher, who shot Elmer Willard, a fugitive, had a preliminary hearing before Mayor William A. Odum, and for lack of evidence was acquitted. Fisher had several witnesses in court, who testified that he was justified in shooting as he was in self-defense.

PANAMA CASE HAS AN EUROPEAN SIDE

Attorney Wise Goes Abroad to Take Depositions.

New York, June 30.—Sailing from this city for Paris today was United States District Attorney Henry A. Wise, who is bound for the French capital on a quest connected with the suit for libel against the New York World and the Indianapolis News in which the federal government is interested.

The going abroad of the government prosecutor for this district follows the obtaining of an order in the United States district court by the publisher of the World for the examination of certain witnesses residing in Paris. Mr. Wise will take depositions of his own, and the counsel for the defendant will be present at the examination of his witnesses. The United States attorney received an order from the United States circuit court a month ago to go to Paris.

The proceedings against the World and the Indianapolis News were begun in Washington on Jan. 18, when subpoenas for witnesses were issued. Indictments were found here on Feb. 17 and in this city on March 4. The indictments in Washington were against the proprietors of both papers and the editors of the World, while in this city they were against Mr. Van Hamm, managing editor of the World, and the Press Publishing company, which publishes the World. An effort is being made in Indianapolis to take Mr. Williams and Mr. Smith of the News to Washington for trial.

The complainants in the prosecution are former President Roosevelt, President Taft, Senator Root, J. P. Morgan, Charles P. Taft, Douglas Robinson and William Nelson Cromwell, who assert that the World and the News libeled them by declaring that there were dishonest proceedings in the sale of the rights of the old French Panama company to the United States government.

Three Marion Boys Drowned. Marion, Ind., June 30.—Cecil Galbreath, age ten years, was drowned, and his brother, Estel Galbreath, age twelve, who tried to rescue him, also perished in the river. Claude Voris, age eleven, while boating, was drowned in the same river at the same hour.

Fatal Accident on Torpedo Boat. San Francisco, June 30.—Five men were fatally injured as the result of the blowing out of a tube on the United States torpedo boat Hull, lying at the Mare Island navy yard.

SENATE DIVIDED ON TAXING QUESTIONS

Income Tax as Against a Tax On Corporations.

Washington, June 30.—After defeating Senator Tillman's amendment for a tax of ten cents a pound on tea by a vote of 18 to 55, thus concluding the schedules of the tariff bill, the senate took up the income and corporation tax questions. Senator Aldrich said he would support the corporation tax amendment as a means of defeating the income tax, expressing the opinion that the tax would be repealed after two years or the rate naturally lowered. The Democrats held that this position was a subterfuge on Mr. Aldrich's part to destroy the income tax. Senator Flint, who will have charge of the corporation tax amendment, spoke in favor of it; Senator Cummins, in favor of the income tax; and Senator Dixon in favor of an inheritance tax, although the latter said he would vote for the corporation tax. Senator Flint said the corporation tax would yield in his opinion a revenue of from $40,000,000 to $50,000,000 a year.

LAWSON'S DAUGHTER BECOMES A BRIDE

Wedded in Beautiful Dreamworld to Chicago Man.

Seltuate, Mass., June 30.—In a bower of the most exquisite products of one of the finest gardens of America Marion Lawson, second daughter of the famous financier and author, Thomas W. Lawson, became today the bride of James Fuller Lord of Chicago. The wedding decorations planned by the bride in yellow, her favorite color, and white brought forth enthusiastic praise from the large bridal party.

Dreamworld, the Lawson estate near this place, is at its best in June, with thousands and thousands of roses, bushes and other flowering plants. The ceremony was performed in the beautiful garden.

Today's wedding is the outcome of a meeting of the young couple at the Onwentsia Hunt club, at Lake Forest, Ill., something over a year ago. Both bride and bridegroom are lovers of horses, and much of the courtship was carried on while they were mounted on horseback. Mr. Lord is master of the hounds of the Onwentsia club.

GREAT POWDER MILL

Duponts Plan New Plant to Employ Thousand Men.

Hartford City, Ind., June 30.—The Du Pont Powder company, known as the powder trust, proposes to make Hartford City its western headquarters. Representatives of the company have taken options on all the land in a section of 640 acres. The proposed plant will include its present factory recently constructed at a cost of $100,000 and be one of the largest manufacturing plants of high explosives in the middle west and it will employ between 800 and 1,000 men. The present concern when in operation employs about 200 workmen. While the company's present plant was only recently built, it is said that it is equipped with obsolete machinery and has never been a paying concern for that reason.

To remodel it would entail an outlay of at least $100,000, Manager Armstrong has stated, and the company has concluded to erect an entirely new and modern plant.

It will be the largest concern in the world of the kind, and while there is some timidity on the part of many citizens since the terrible explosion at Fontana, the company's representatives assure the people here that it will be so constructed that the force of an explosion would not set off the explosives in an adjoining structure.

If you have any half dollars read this story, but if you are without the junior eagle you needn't bother. Phony half dollars are in circulation in cities north and east of Rushville and the circulation is likely to extend to this city. The coin is an excellent reproduction so long as the appearance alone is considered. But it is short in weight and after it has been laid away for a few days loses its brilliancy and takes on the look of old lead. An amount of glass was used in the manufacture and this gives the required metallic ring.

Byron Cowing, who tunes his alto horn one day and plays it the next, met with an accident yesterday which might have proven disastrous to his musical talents. He has been using an atomizer to spray his throat for an affliction and had it filled with the usual preparation. Someone used the atomizer for other purposes yesterday and thoughtlessly left a quantity of an acid in it. Young Cowing thought the Fourth of July was here last night when he used the atomizer, spraying his throat with the burning acid. With a yell he reached high C in a clear and clarion tone.

ASKS THOUSANDS; GET TEN DOLLARS

Jury Awards Rollo Fisher Damages Against the I. & C. Traction Co., in Shelbyville.

HIS HARNESS WAS DAMAGED

The jury in the case of Rollo Fisher vs. Charles L. Henry as receiver for the I. & C. Traction company, rendered a verdict in the Shelby Circuit court late Tuesday evening, says the Shelbyville News, awarding the plaintiff ten dollars damages. The case had been in the hands of the jury since ten o'clock Tuesday morning. One of the jurors is said to have remarked that the harness on the plaintiff's horses were damaged to that extent, at least. Mr. Fisher, who resides near Five Points, Marion county, was asking $3000 for injuries to himself, his horses, and for the destruction of a hay-wagon in an accident that occurred in September, 1908, when he was struck by an I. & C. car near his home. While trying to drive through a gate the hay-ladder caught on a post holding the wagon across the track until it was struck by a rapidly approaching car.
